SUB S-4 WARPED INTO BOSTON DRYDOCK

HULL EASES GENTLY INTO PROPER POSITION

STORY OF LAST HOURS OF 6 MEN IN TORPEDO ROOM MAY BE LEARNED

BATTERED AND SEA-BEATEN HULK STILL COFFIN FOR 8 MEN

Boston, March 19.—(UP)—The submarine S-4 was warped into drydock at the Boston navy yard today.

The feat was accomplished without mishap, the hull easing gently to her position in the drydock.

Four civilian divers, Thomas Fulk, Joseph Madden, John Green and George Duke, were lowered into the still water-filled drydock to shore up the keel—an operation which was to insure an even settling of the craft when the water is drawn out of the drydock.

Boston, Mass., March 19.—The story of the last hours of life of six men, who while trapped within the torpedo room of the sunken submarine S-4 sent out appealing tapplings in Morse code for relief, may be learned today.

The battered and sea-beaten hulk of the submersible, which sank on December 17 when rammed by the coast guard destroyer Paulding, lay in the Charlestown navy yard today—a coffin for eight men.

Forty men went down with the craft. Thirty-two bodies were recovered. Among the bodies still remaining are those of six men whose three-day fight against a rapidly approaching death—told by faint tapplings of a small hammer against the submersible's inner side—moved the nation to a common grief.

Official inspection of the submarine starts today. The craft will be raised to dry dock. Hatches will be opened and pure air sent into the death chambers. Then doctors and navy officials will enter to reclaim the bodies, and if possible, learn the tragic story of the undersea death of those six men.

It was just three months ago that the six men were waging their uneven battle for life.

While a rough sea broke many fathoms above them, preventing divers from going down, the six men sent out the messages that thrilled a nation. They asked for soda and lime to counteract the deadly carbon dioxide gas that was filling their tomb.

"They pleaded for speed in the rescue work. They advised there were six men trapped in the torpedo room. The tapplings told, in their volume, of the ebb and flow of life. Towards the end the perfect Morse was broken. The tapplings became nothing but desultory knocks on the side of the boat, so far as those aboard the rescue vessels could detect. Then there was silence—the silence that told suffocation had finally taken its toll.

There were hopes that perhaps logs might have been kept, that farewell messages might have been written or that the position of equipment in the torpedo room might tell of what had happened in those 72 hours. It was a dim hope, however. Navy officers pointed out the men had held hope of rescue up until the time the tapplings had become almost inaudible. After that they considered it likely the strength of the men had ebbed so far they would have been unable to write.

In addition to Lieut. Graham Fitch, the men who died in the torpedo room were Russell A. Crabb, San Diego, Cal.; George Poinar, South Omaha, Neb.; Robert L. Short, Booneville, Mo.; Joseph L. Stevens, Providence, R. I.; and Frank Snizek, Ridgefield, N. J.

The bodies of William Dempsey, Walkerville, Ont., and J. W. Sterman, Riverside, R. I., have never been recovered, and it was uncertain what part of the submarine they were in. Their bodies probably will be among those brought up today.

The S-4 was dragged into Charlestown navy yard yesterday and, resting on big pontoons, now awaits raising to dry dock. It was a battle to keep the submersible from going again to the bottom. A stiff storm broke as the submersible was drawn into port, and navy officials said that if they had been an hour later the submersible probably would have gone down again.

OF BOARD

Los Angeles, March 19.—(UP)—The state board of inquiry today will start its investigation into the St. Francis dam disaster.

The board, appointed by Gov. C. C. Young, is headed by A. C. Wiley, Boise, Idaho, engineer. Other nationally known engineers make up the board.

The investigation will be the first of a group of official inquiries through which, it is expected, the blame for the dam's collapse and the resulting flood will be settled.

The best check obtainable placed the dead at 270 and missing at 175. About a score of bodies were found yesterday. Damage is estimated at $15,000,000.

THREE NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

St. Paul, March 19.—(UP)—Three persons narrowly escaped death Sunday when the plane in which they were riding crashed in a St. Paul street.

The plane, piloted by Elmore S. Wall, chief pilot of the Roth-Downs Airways, was gliding to a landing when the accident occurred. He and his two passengers, Ralph Wood, Delavan, Minn., and Harry Wise of Lake City, Minn., both university students, were knocked unconscious. They were not seriously injured.

from within the hull to a shack at the side of the drydock.

The naval board of inspection entered the battered hulk just after 1 P. M., when the interior was declared sufficiently cleared of water and foul air.

Commander Harold E. Saunders, chief salvage officer at Provincetown where the ship was sent to the bottom in a collision with the coast guard destroyer Paulding, was the first to enter the torpedo room.

He was immediately followed by the board.

Lieut. A. C. Smith, a member of the board, described the scene in the torpedo room.

"The floor is covered with oil and slime," he said.

"The men seem to have died in their bunks, but were washed onto the floor by the water."

"The torpedo room door was dogged tight and propped with a lead maul."

"The window of the door appeared to have been leaking, for it was covered with a sheet of rubber."

"Although none of the bodies wore gas masks, there are indications they were used."

"Fitch (Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch) has been identified, by an Annapolis class ring and an athletic sweater bearing the date 1923."

"Three bodies are at the foot of the ladder, two aft of the room under bunks."

"Fitch was near the torpedo tubes."

"There was apparently no effort to use the tubes for escape. The doors to the torpedo tubes had not been tampered with."

"We have been unable to find any written record but are still searching."

"It's hard to walk around here because of the bodies on the floor. The bodies are in rather bad condition."

Capt. J. D. Wilson, senior member of the board of inspection, said this afternoon it was hoped to get the bodies out of the hull before night.

SENATOR GEORGE'S FRIENDS CLAIM 100 VOTES FOR HIM

ADHERENTS OF THE GEORGIAN CLAIM "FAVORITE SON" WILL MAKE IMPRESSION

CLAIM HE IS NOW IMPORTANT CANDIDATE OF THE ENTIRE SOUTH

By PAUL R. MALLON
Washington, March 19.—Friends of Senator Walter F. George, the Georgia "favorite son" claimed today that he would go into the Houston democratic convention with more than 100 votes.

They contend he has developed in the last few days from a hopeless candidate of his states' delegation to an important candidate of the entire south—as Senator Underwood of Alabama was in 1912.

They count 28 votes in Georgia, 24 in Alabama, 24 in North Carolina and 18 in South Carolina for a basic total of 94. Then they say they expect George delegates to be selected among the 12 in Florida, 26 in Kentucky, 20 in Oklahoma, 24 in Tennessee and 16 in West Virginia.

Their figures, of course, are discounted by friends of Gov. Al Smith and others, but the claims reveal a change of strategy on the part of at least a section of the south. The old plan of the southern Smith opposition was to select favorite son delegations in every state with Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri as an open or an unnamed second choice.

The claims also mean that while George's chance of the nomination may be remote, his bloc of southern delegates is growing to such an extent that it will prove to be an unexpected influential power at Houston.

The manner in which George last week sewed the Georgia delegation in his pocket is proof that his movement—taken none too seriously at first—now is getting down to business. For the first time in years Georgia leaders encouraged him to "hand pick" a delegation which would prevent any men who favored Reed or Smith as second choices from getting into the convention.

George will have undisputed control of the delegation throughout the convention under the "hand picking process," which he undertook with the encouragement and advice of the Georgia democratic state committee.

He is strongly opposed to Smith and not favorable to Reed, so his votes can be expected to be of little help to the two major candidates of the party.

MOTION PICTURE COWBOY STAR FATALLY BURNED

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—(UP)—Art Acord, motion picture cowboy star, was burned probably fatally when a mysterious explosion wrecked his home here last night.

Physicians at a hospital here today said Acord suffered burns about the face, and limbs and it was feared his eyesight had been destroyed.

Police reports said that the screen star entered the bathroom with a lighted cigarette in his hand and that the explosion followed. It was believed the bathroom was filled with gas escaping from a heater.

SEVEN PERSONS OVERCOME BY GAS IN HOME

Minneapolis, March 19.—(UP)—Seven persons were overcome by carbon monoxide gas in a home here late Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, two of the victims, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Larrabee. Gas from the heater in the room in which they were sitting is thought to have overcome them. A pulmonologist revived Mr. and Mrs. Larrabee, their children, Robert, 8; Muriel, 6, and Louis, 4, besides their two guests.

GENE SHANK AFTER WORLD ENDURANCE MARK

St. Paul, March 19.—(UP)—Gene Shank, St. Paul aviator and law student, will take off from White Bear lake this afternoon in an attempt to break the world's endurance record.

The record is now held by two German airmen who kept their plane aloft 52 hours, 22 minutes, and 31 seconds. Several attempts by American aviators to break the record during the past few weeks have been unsuccessful.

The Minneapolis chapter of the National Aeronautical society will direct the flight.

Shank said he would start his endurance attempt at 4 p. m.

INSTRUCTING DELEGATES FOR ILLINOIS MAN, TOTAL OF 529 DELEGATES

ONE COUNTY, LAKE, 6 DELE-GATES, IS INSTRUCTED
FOR HOOVER

St. Paul, March 19.—(UP)—Frank O. Lowden, Illinois war governor, has the support of 529 instructed delegates while 177 others, while instructed, are reported to favor his nomination as republican presidential candidate, tabulation of county convention results indicated today.

Delegations from 51 counties have instructions to support Lowden. Twenty additional counties with 177 delegates were reported "for Lowden," but delegates are uninstructed.

A statement issued today by Sen. Claude H. Mackenzie, Lowden's Minnesota manager, outlined the following:

"Fifty-one counties have positively instructed their delegates for and endorsed Lowden with a total of 529 delegates."

"One county—Lake—is instructed for Hoover. It has 6 delegates."

"Twenty counties are for Lowden, but delegates were not instructed."

"The remaining counties are uninstructed, some favoring Hoover and some Lowden."

"The Lowden forces in the state convention will have over 700 delegates out of a total of 1,079."

Four counties that will send their delegates to the convention uninstructed are shown to have favored Hoover. They are Aitkin, Beltrami, Hennepin and St. Louis. Lake of the Woods, Itasca and Hubbard counties left no opening to indicate which of the two men they favored, while Koochiching, Roseau and Benton counties reported divided sentiment.

J. F. REED OF FARM BUREAU FAVORED FOR I.C.C.

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—Minnesota members of the house, headed by Rep. Clague, recommended to President Coolidge today the appointment of J. F. RESIDENTS OF SEABOARD TOWNS ARE MORE SECURE

MILITARY AUTHORITIES ASSUR-ED THEY CAN PROTECT
KEY POINTS

INCLUDING TREASURY, PANAMA CANAL LOCKS, COASTAL FORTS

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 19.—The dreaded bombing airplane, potential menace to American cities, government buildings and military structures in time of war, is losing in its race with anti-aircraft development.

Residents of seaboard towns are now more secure against possible air raids than they have been at any time in the last decade, army officials assert. One important result of the recent extraordinary improvement in anti-aircraft armament and firing control is the increased confidence it has given military authorities that they can protect key points, including the treasury, Panama Canal locks and coastal fortifications, against serious damage from bombing attacks.

This situation was revealed to the United Press today by Major General Clarence C. Williams, chief of army ordnance.

Williams made no claim that these key structures have been absolutely guaranteed against enemy bombers, but nevertheless made it clear that the menace of the death-dealing flying machines had been virtually reduced to a minimum.

"So long as an enemy airman is intent on dropping bombs on a certain building or military site," he said, "there isn't anybody on earth who can stop him from trying. But we feel we are in a position to keep him from doing any really serious damage."

It would be more difficult to protect entire cities from air raids, Williams pointed out, because of their size. Protection for thickly populated centers has, however, been greatly enhanced by the perfecting two months ago of a mobile carriage for the new 3-inch anti-aircraft gun, the principal weapon used against bombardment planes. The new equipment is stable under all conditions of firing, can be set up for action in less than 15 minutes, and is so light in weight that it can be rushed on short notice to any part of a city or fortification likely to be bombed.

The gun itself has been improved, now being provided with an inner removable liner which makes it possible to reline it while in action instead of sending it to an arsenal. The new device has also increased its range and efficiency. The gun fires a standard three-inch shell at a muzzle velocity of 2,600 feet per second, while its vertical range is about 5,000 yards (3 miles) and the maximum horizontal range 11,000 yards.

A new 165-millimeter piece with mobile carriage has been developed for auxiliary use. According to an official bulletin, it is the largest "and most powerful anti-aircraft weapon yet tested by our services." It has a muzzle velocity of 3,000 feet per second and will fire a 33-pound shell to a height of 12,000 yards (seven and a half miles).

Support of the assertion that anti-aircraft defense is making remarkable strides forward is found in the results of tests conducted each fall by the coast artillery. In 1925 the 3-inch guns registered 2.03 hits per battery per minute; in 1926 they registered 6.9 hits per minute, an increase in efficiency of more than 200 per cent. This increase was even more significant in view of the higher altitudes at which the targets were towed in 1926. Figures for last year's tests have not been compiled, but they are known to show an even greater increase in efficiency.

51 CHINESE SOLDIERS, BANDITS ARE EXECUTED

RESPONSIBLE FOR FAMOUS NANKING INCIDENT LAST SPRING

LATTER LED TO ANTI-FOREIGN, SERIOUS DEMONSTRATIONS

London, March 19.—(UP)—The Manchester Guardian received a dispatch from Shanghai today which said the Chinese nationalist government had announced the execution of 51 Chinese soldiers and bandits, responsible for the famous Nanking incident last spring which led to anti-foreign demonstrations.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Lin Chu-Han, former director of the nationalist army's political department, who is accused of having instigated the plot to rob and murder foreigners at Nanking, the dispatch added.

Lin Chu-Han disappeared several months ago.

The Manchester Guardian quoted a statement by Chiang Kai-Shek, former generalissimo of the nationalist forces and now virtual civil dictator, which said the nationalist government's political council had instructed its foreign minister to negotiate with the foreign powers over the Nanking incident.

The statement said the nationalists were willing to deal fairly with foreign governments provided the powers would not impede progress of the Chinese revolution.

Foreign Minister Hwang-Fu was quoted as saying the nationalist government was prepared to apologize to the powers. Compensation for damages was said to be the only hope for settlement of the incident.

The largest claims were understood to have been made on behalf of Americans and Englishmen.

The Chinese nationalist forces captured Nanking March 23, 1927. Many foreigners, including Americans, fled to the Standard Oil plant on a hill in the suburbs. The Cantonese troops shelled the hill. A Chinese looter killed Dr. J. E. Williams of Shawnee, O., vice president of Nanking University, and Chinese wounded the British consul general, Bertram Giles, and killed Dr. L. S. Smith, British port doctor.

Foreign warships shelled around the hill and landing parties of the American and British marines and soldiers rescued many foreigners. The others were allowed to go aboard foreign warships after several threats to shell the city had been made by American and British commanders.

MYSTERIOUS MISDIRECTED PACKAGE TOPIC

SPECIAL EXECUTIVE SESSION OF COMMITTEE CALLED THIS AFTERNOON

PACKAGE INTENDED FOR WASHINGTON, D. C. MAN, SENT TO WASHINGTON, ILL.

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—A special executive session of the senate Teapot Dome committee was called this afternoon by Chairman Nye to determine what will be done to check up on the sensational story given the Nye sub-committee in Chicago, involving an alleged mysterious package supposedly intended for a Washington, D. C. man, but misdirected to Washington, Ill.

Washington, Ill., March 19.—The senate Teapot Dome investigation has extended to Washington, Ill., in connection with a misdirected package, it was learned today.

A representative of the senate investigating committee obtained from M. B. Frederick, American Railway Express Co. agent, copies of two telegrams relating to the package.

Frederick told the United Press he received the telegrams on November 21, 1927. He refused to reveal their nature.

"The men from the senate committee told me to keep mum," he said.

It was understood the telegrams advised him to re-direct to Washington, D. C., a package which had been addressed to Washington by mistake.

Washington, March 19.—The senate Teapot Dome committee has under investigation startling information, gathered in Chicago, which, it was learned today, may possibly involve a member of the judiciary. The information was obtained in executive session of the Teapot special sub-committee, and was of such serious character that the committee is making public no names or details until it has had an opportunity to test the accuracy of the story.

Chairman Nye of the committee, who with Senator Norbeck conducted the Chicago hearings, told the United Press today it is true there was a "mystery witness" at Chicago. "Rather than put him on the stand directly," he said, "we had him come to visit us. His testimony was of such a startling nature that we did not feel justified in bringing it out publicly before we had a chance to investigate."

The witness told of receiving a mysterious package, its contents, according to Nye, being unknown. One version, however, was that it contained bonds for a Washington man but was mis-addressed to a man in Illinois.

It was said that the man for whom the strange package was intended was "possibly" a member of the judiciary, but Nye refused to make any direct comment on that phase of the situation.

"No one knows the contents of the package or if it was even actually in existence," Nye told the United Press.

That assertion was taken as indicating that the committeemen had some doubt about the accuracy of the story they had heard, and Nye made it plain that the committee intended to clear up the situation as quickly as possible.

Asked whether the committee intended to call a local judge for examination, Nye explained he could see no reason for doing so now. There are further angles to be checked before such a course would be taken, if at all.

"We intend to put this story at rest—one way or other directly," he said.

It was reported that the mystery package emanated from a Sinclair company. Harry F. Sinclair, storm center of the committee investigation, has been pictured heretofore in the role of distributor of liberty bonds gleaned from the Continental Oil Company's deal in 1921. Part of the bonds went, through a third party, to former Secretary of Interior Fall, and some of them found their way to the republican campaign funds.

A check of express, mail and telegraph records is being undertaken with a view to ascertaining whether

GATES, IS INSTRUCTED
FOR HOOVER

St. Paul, March 19.—(UP)—Frank O. Lowden, Illinois war governor, has the support of 529 instructed delegates while 177 others, while uninstructed, are reported to favor his nomination as republican presidential candidate, tabulation of county convention results indicated today.

Delegations from 51 counties have instructions to support Lowden. Twenty additional counties with 177 delegates were reported "for Lowden," but delegates are uninstructed.

A statement issued today by Sen. Claude H. Mackenzie, Lowden's Minnesota manager, outlined the following:

"Fifty-one counties have positively instructed their delegates for and endorsed Lowden with a total of 529 delegates."

"One county—Lake—is instructed for Hoover. It has 6 delegates."

"Twenty counties are for Lowden, but delegates were not instructed."

"The remaining counties are uninstructed, some favoring Hoover and some Lowden."

"The Lowden forces in the state convention will have over 706 delegates out of a total of 1,079."

Four counties that will send their delegations to the convention uninstructed are shown to have favored Hoover. They are Aitkin, Beltrami, Hennepin and St. Louis. Lake of the Woods, Itasca and Hubbard counties left no opening to indicate which of the two men they favored, while Koochiching, Roseau and Benton counties reported divided sentiment.

RESIDENTS OF SEABOARD TOWNS
ARE MORE SECUREMILITARY AUTHORITIES ASSUR-ED THEY CAN PROTECT
KEY POINTSINCLUDING TREASURY, PANAMA CANAL LOCKS, COASTAL FORTS

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 19.—The dreaded bombing airplane, potential menace to American cities, government buildings and military structures in time of war, is losing its race with anti-aircraft development.

Residents of seaboard towns are now more secure against possible air raids than they have been at any time in the last decade, army officials assert. One important result of the recent extraordinary improvement in anti-aircraft armament and firing control is the increased confidence it has given military authorities that they can protect key points, including the treasury, Panama Canal locks and coastal fortifications, against serious damage from bombing attacks.

This situation was revealed to the United Press today by Major General Clarence C. Williams, chief of army ordnance.

Williams made no claim that these key structures have been absolutely guaranteed against enemy bombers, but nevertheless made it clear that the menace of the death-dealing flying machines had been virtually reduced to a minimum.

"So long as an enemy airman is intent on dropping bombs on a certain building or military site," he said, "there isn't anybody on earth who can stop him from trying. But we feel we are in a position to keep him from doing any really serious damage."

It would be more difficult to protect entire cities from air raids, Williams pointed out, because of their size. Protection for thickly populated centers has, however, been greatly enhanced by the perfecting two months ago of a mobile carriage for the new 3-inch anti-aircraft gun, the principal weapon used against bombardment planes. The new equipment is stable under all conditions of firing, can be set up for action in less than 15 minutes, and is so light in weight that it can be rushed on short notice to any part of a city or fortification likely to be bombed.

The gun itself has been improved, now being provided with an inner removable liner which makes it possible to reline it while in action instead of sending it to an arsenal. The new device has also increased its range and efficiency. The gun fires a standard three-inch shell at a muzzle velocity of 2,600 feet per second, while its vertical range is about 5,000 yards (3 miles) and the maximum horizontal range 11,000 yards.

A new 165-millimeter piece with mobile carriage has been developed for auxiliary use. According to an official bulletin, it is the largest "and most powerful anti-aircraft weapon yet tested by our services." It has a muzzle velocity of 3,000 feet per second and will fire a 33-pound shell to a height of 12,000 yards (seven and a half miles).

Support of the assertion that anti-aircraft defense is making remarkable strides forward is found in the results of tests conducted each fall by the coast artillery. In 1925 the 3-inch guns registered 2.93 hits per battery per minute; in 1926 they registered 6.9 hits per minute, an increase in efficiency of more than 200 per cent. This increase was even more significant in view of the higher altitudes at which the targets were towed in 1926. Figures for last year's tests have not been compiled, but they are known to show an even greater increase in efficiency.

51 CHINESE
SOLDIERS, BANDITS
ARE EXECUTEDRESPONSIBLE FOR FAMOUS NAN-KING INCIDENT LAST SPRINGLATTER LED TO ANTI-FOREIGN,
SERIOUS DEMON-STRATIONS

London, March 19.—(UP)—The Manchester Guardian received a dispatch from Shanghai today which said the Chinese nationalist government had announced the execution of 51 Chinese soldiers and bandits, responsible for the famous Nanking incident last spring which led to anti-foreign demonstrations.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Lin Chu-Han, former director of the nationalist army's political department, who is accused of having instigated the plot to rob and murder foreigners at Nanking, the dispatch added.

Lin Chu-Han disappeared several months ago.

The Manchester Guardian quoted a statement by Chiang Kai-Shek, former generalissimo of the nationalist forces and now virtual civil dictator, which said the nationalist government's political council had instructed its foreign minister to negotiate with the foreign powers over the Nanking incident.

The statement said the nationalists were willing to deal fairly with foreign governments provided the powers would not impede progress of the Chinese revolution.

Foreign Minister Hwang-Fu was quoted as saying the nationalist government was prepared to apologize to the powers. Compensation for damages was said to be the only hope for settlement of the incident.

The largest claims were understood to have been made on behalf of Americans and Englishmen.

The Chinese nationalist forces captured Nanking March 23, 1927. Many foreigners, including Americans, fled to the Standard Oil plant on a hill in the suburbs. The Cantonese troops shelled the hill. A Chinese looter killed Dr. J. E. Williams of Shawnee, O., vice president of Nanking University, and Chinese wounded the British consul general, Bertram Giles, and killed Dr. L. S. Smith, British port doctor.

Foreign warships shelled around the hill and landing parties of the American and British marines and soldiers rescued many foreigners. The others were allowed to go aboard foreign warships after several threats to shell the city had been made by American and British commanders.

MYSTERIOUS
MISDIRECTED PACKAGE TOPICSPECIAL EXECUTIVE SESSION OF
COMMITTEE CALLED THIS
AFTERNOONPACKAGE INTENDED FOR WASH-INGTON, D. C. MAN, SENT TO WASHINGTON, ILL.

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—A special executive session of the senate Teapot Dome committee was called this afternoon by Chairman Nye to determine what will be done to check up on the sensational story given the Nye sub-committee in Chicago, involving an alleged mysterious package supposedly intended for a Washington, D. C. man, but misdirected to Washington, Ill.

Washington, Ill., March 19.—The senate Teapot Dome investigation has extended to Washington, Ill., in connection with a misdirected package, it was learned today.

A representative of the senate investigating committee obtained from M. B. Frederick, American Railway Express Co. agent, copies of two telegrams relating to the package.

Frederick told the United Press he received the telegrams on November 21, 1927. He refused to reveal their nature.

"The men from the senate committee told me to keep mum," he said.

It was understood the telegrams advised him to re-direct to Washington, D. C., a package which had been addressed to Washington by mistake.

Washington, March 19.—The senate Teapot Dome committee has under investigation startling information, gathered in Chicago, which, it was learned today, may possibly involve a member of the judiciary. The information was obtained in executive session of the Teapot special sub-committee, and was of such serious character that the committee is making public no names or details until it has had an opportunity to test the accuracy of the story.

Chairman Nye of the committee, who with Senator Norbeck conducted the Chicago hearings, told the United Press today it is true there was a "mystery witness" at Chicago.

"Rather than put him on the stand directly," he said, "we had him come to visit us. His testimony was of such a startling nature that we did not feel justified in bringing it out publicly before we had a chance to investigate."

The witness told of receiving a mysterious package, its contents, according to Nye, being unknown. One version, however, was that it contained bonds for a Washington man but was mis-addressed to a man in Illinois.

It was said that the man for whom the strange package was intended was "possibly" a member of the judiciary, but Nye refused to make any direct comment on that phase of the situation.

"No one knows the contents of the package or if it was even actually in existence," Nye told the United Press.

That assertion was taken as indicating that the committee had some doubt about the accuracy of the story they had heard, and Nye made it plain that the committee intended to clear up the situation as quickly as possible.

Asked whether the committee intended to call a local judge for examination, Nye explained he could see no reason for doing so now. There are further angles to be checked before such a course would be taken, if at all.

"We intend to put this story at rest—one way or other directly," he said.

It was reported that the mystery package emanated from a Sinclair company. Harry F. Sinclair, storm center of the committee investigation, has been pictured heretofore in the role of distributor of liberty bonds gleaned from the Continental Oil Company's deal in 1921. Part of the bonds went, through a third party, to former Secretary of Interior Fall, and some of them found their way to the republican campaign funds.

A check of express, mail and telegraph records is being undertaken with a view to ascertaining whether

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO BATTLE IN NEW YORK TONIGHT

SCOTT, BRITISH FIGHTER, IS TO MEET BELGIAN

LATTER PIERRE CHARLES, IS SOMETHING LIKE FIRPO IN ACTION

THERE IS HOWEVER, NO PAMPAS SUPPLY IN BELGIUM COUNTRY

By FRANK GETTY (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 19. — (U.P.)—Within the musty confines of the old St. Nicholas rink, where sailors and their sweethearts used to skate and so forth, the London fire department's contribution to the manly art of self-defense, Philip Shuffling Scott, once more will be exhibited to the fight fans of New York tonight, in postures more or less vertical.

Just how vertical young Mr. Scott remains this evening depends largely upon chance, for Philip, on the occasion of his second American invasion, had drawn as an opponent a wild-eyed Belgian boy of 200 odd pounds known as Pierre Charles.

In action, Pierre Charles recalls the unlamented Luis Angel Firpo.

They have no Pampas, or at the most a limited supply, in Belgium, so no one has as yet called M. Charles a wild bull of anything. But in the ring at Madison Square Garden the other evening Pierre acted like a bull of the wildest variety rampaging through a China shop. Jack McCann of St. Paul was the china.

Chance directed one of M. Charles' wild lunges to the jaw of McCann, and the St. Paul boxer bounced a couple of times before bringing up, prone and startled, in close embrace with the canvas. McCann was not as startled as M. Charles, however. The big Belgian's eyes nearly popped from his head as he saw his opponent prostrate.

With a snort of amazement, Pierre went into action. As fast as McCann arose, the Belgian flattened him, until finally a straight right tacked the unhappy Minnesotan to the canvas for keeps.

It is something of this sort for which Phil Scott must be prepared tonight. Genial Gus Wilson, who trains and manages Pierre, tells me that the youngster now has an idea that all opponents are to be flattened and left that way within the first three minutes of any bout.

"Scott will get a surprise," predicts Gus. "I wouldn't be surprised myself, though, to see Pierre knock him out just as Knute Hansen did."

This was bringing up a subject most distasteful to Scott. It will be recalled that upon the occasion of his American debut, Phil was stopped in less than a round by the none too durable Dane.

In subsequent appearances, Scott managed to last through a bout with Johnny Risko and furthered the cause of higher education at Princeton by proving that Monte Munn, as suspected, was still a good legislator.

The hackney work fire laddie returned recently from a visit to England, and his 10-round engagement with Pierre Charles represents his second venture along the trail that may lead to a title fight at some future date.

Phil and Pierre fought in London last July, the British heavyweight earning the decision in 15 rounds.

HIGH SCHOOL CAGE TEAMS COMPETE FOR TROPHY THIS WEEK

FRESHMEN VS. SENIORS, SOPHOMORES VS. JUNIORS, IN INITIAL CLASH

SEMI-FINALS TOMORROW WITH FINALS THURSDAY EVENING

The Interclass Basketball tournament at the Brainerd high school will get under way this afternoon after school at the B. H. S. gym with the Freshmen meeting the Seniors and the Sophomores stacking up against the Juniors in the initial round, according to an announcement made today by Coach Warren Kasch. Tomorrow afternoon the Freshmen will play the Juniors and the Sophomores will meet the Seniors. The finals will be played on Thursday night to enable the public to attend.

The games will be played on a percentage basis. The two teams with the greatest number of points to their credit after the two playoff games will meet as finalists in the play Thursday night. The trophy up for competition was won last year by the Freshmen.

While plans have not been completed as to the Grade School Cage Championship tournament, it is hoped that the games can be started this week. Four schools will compete, the Lowell, Whittier, Harrison and Lincoln. An early schedule proposed calls for the first round to be played Wednesday afternoon with the finals on Friday.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Refusing to become bothered by the Yankees' three straight defeats, Manager Miller Huggins said today that he was completely satisfied with the slow development of the world champions.

"We are training for a grin, which will start April 11 and last until October," Huggins said. "There's no rush about getting in shape, but we'll be ready on opening day."

Intensive training was to begin today.

MULLEN WIRES TUNNEY ATTRACTIVE FIGHT OFFER

Chicago, March 19.—(U.P.)—Promoter James C. Mullen of Chicago wired Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, an offer last night of a guarantee of $400,000 with a privilege of 50 per cent of the net receipts for a championship fight in Chicago this summer. Mullen said he had received information from New York that Tex Rickard probably would not be able to fulfill the terms of a contract with the champion which calls for a championship fight in New York in June or July. The offer was wired to Tunney at Miami Beach, Fla.

Mullen said he hoped to match the champion with either Tom Heeney, who defeated Jack Delaney, or the winner of the elimination tournament which opens here Friday.

At the Training Camps

Fort Myers, Fla. — Continuing their spring series, the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Giants moved here for their third game today.

The Giants evened the series with their 6 to 1 victory at St. Augustine yesterday. Cohen starred afield and at bat for the Giants.

Avon Park, Fla.—Outfielders Ray Blades and Chick Hafey were scheduled to start their first exhibition game of the season in the Cardinals' outfield here today against the Indianapolis American Association club. Blades was to go to left and Hafey to right.

Tony Kaufmann and Flint Rhem, the only hurlers who have not been used in exhibition games, may be Manager McKechnie's choices for today's game.

Orlando, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds were without the services of both of their first basemen, Wally Pipp and George Kelly, when they left today for an exhibition game with Baltimore Orioles at Auburn-dale. Kelly is lame and Pipp is recovering from a case of grippe. Emmett McCann, a second base candidate, was to cover the initial sack.

WALTER JOHNSON HAS PITCHED HIS LAST GAME

Jacksonville, Fla., March 19.—(U.P.)—One of baseball's greatest heroes, Walter Johnson, came here today to consult a diagnostician whose verdict may mean that the beloved "Big Train" has pitched his last game.

Pale, weak and 20 pounds under weight, Johnson is feared to be suffering from infection of the kidneys which followed a severe attack of influenza this winter.

Johnson, who was appointed manager of the Newark International league club after his release by the Washington Senators last fall, had hoped to get into uniform and pitch a few games for the Bears during the coming season.

As it is, he has been unable even to fulfill his duties as manager of the club.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Madison Square Garden, where sports are booked according to the social register, opens its bronze, turquoise studded doors to wrestling tonight.

Leaving out jai alai, roque and deck quoits, every sport to which admission reasonably could be charged has been tried out on the patient, credulous cash customers by G. L. Rickard.

Wrestling, for a long time, remained beyond the pale. It dragged its malodorous weariness through draughty armories, but the "600 millionaires" knew it not.

Then someone out in Kansas City established a new record for gate receipts by billing Joe Stecher and Strangler Lewis for the world's championship, and Tex Rickard took notice and his feet off his desk and set out in search for Mr. Jack Curley.

Announcing record gate receipts to Rickard is like picking four-leaf clovers in the bull's own pasture with a pair of red flannel bloomers on. Tex is determined that when bigger gate receipts are taken, he will take them.

Finding Mr. Curley was no very difficult task, for Mr. Curley is neither by size nor nature a shrinking violet.

And so was found, as Briggs would say, the beginning of a beautiful friendship.

Rickard and Curley have been competitors in the sport of promoting sports for many years. Jack is the original wrestling man, and knows all the behemoths by their first names. His office is constantly filled with men-mountain seekers $5.00 for spaghetti or sauerkraut, pending their next matches, if any.

The floors of the office building in which Curley makes his headquarters have to be propped up every so often after the tread of heavyweight wrestlers has sounded across them.

When anything is wanted of, by or for the wrestling business, Mr. Curley sees to it.

So said Tex to Jack:

"I see where somebody won the Kansas City gate receipts record with a couple wrestlers the other night. Do you know any world's champion wrestlers we could get cheap to come and wrestle for us at Madison Square Garden?"

"Tex," replied Jack, "believe it or not, I got just the two wrestlers what you're looking for. Fine, big fellers what you will have to take in through the elephant entrance in the basement, and both logical world's champions each of them."

"Well," said Tex, "tell them I said they ain't to throw each other outta the ring, because we have millionaires using up all our front row seats and they don't like wrestlers in their laps. And if either of them gets thrown out I will have Johnny Broderick throw him right back in, and that won't do any good to a wrestler."

FRESHMEN VS. SENIORS, SOPHOMORES VS. JUNIORS, IN INITIAL CLASH

SEMI-FINALS TOMORROW WITH FINALS THURSDAY EVENING

The Interclass Basketball tournament at the Brainerd high school will get under way this afternoon after school at the B. H. S. gym with the Freshmen meeting the Seniors and the Sophomores stacking up against the Juniors in the initial round, according to an announcement made today by Coach Warren Kasch. Tomorrow afternoon the Freshmen will play the Juniors and the Sophomores will meet the Seniors. The finals will be played on Thursday night to enable the public to attend.

The games will be played on a percentage basis. The two teams with the greatest number of points to their credit after the two playoff games will meet as finalists in the play Thursday night. The trophy up for competition was won last year by the Freshmen.

While plans have not been completed as to the Grade School Cage Championship tournament, it is hoped that the games can be started this week. Four schools will compete, the Lowell, Whittier, Harrison and Lincoln. An early schedule proposed calls for the first round to be played Wednesday afternoon with the finals on Friday.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — Refusing to become bothered by the Yankees' three straight defeats, Manager Miller Huggins said today that he was completely satisfied with the slow development of the world champions.

"We are training for a grind which will start April 11 and last until October," Huggins said. "There's no rush about getting in shape, but we'll be ready on opening day."

Intensive training was to begin today.

MULLEN WIRES TUNNEY ATTRACTIVE FIGHT OFFER

Chicago, March 19. — (U.P.) — Promoter James C. Mullen of Chicago wired Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, an offer last night of a guarantee of $400,000 with a privilege of 50 per cent of the net receipts for a championship fight in Chicago this summer. Mullen said he had received information from New York that Tex Rickard probably would not be able to fulfill the terms of a contract with the champion which calls for a championship fight in New York in June or July. The offer was wired to Tunney at Miami Beach, Fla.

Mullen said he hoped to match the champion with either Tom Heene, who defeated Jack Delaney, or the winner of his elimination tournament which opens here Friday.

Fort Myers, Fla. — Continuing their spring series, the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Giants moved here for their third game today.

Tony Kaufmann and Flint Rhem, the only hurlers who have not been used in exhibition games, may be Manager McKechnie's choices for today's game.

Orlando, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds were without the services of both of their first basemen, Wally Pipp and George Kelly, when they left today for an exhibition game with Baltimore Orioles at Auburn-dale. Kelly is lame and Pipp is recovering from a case of grippe. Emmett McCann, a second base candidate, was to cover the initial sack.

WALTER JOHNSON HAS PITCHED HIS LAST GAME

Jacksonville, Fla., March 19. — (U.P.) — One of baseball's greatest heroes, Walter Johnson, came here today to consult a diagnostician whose verdict may mean that the beloved "Big Train" has pitched his last game.

Pale, weak and 20 pounds under weight, Johnson is feared to be suffering from infection of the kidneys which followed a severe attack of influenza this winter.

Johnson, who was appointed manager of the Newark International league club after his release by the Washington Senators last fall, had hoped to get into uniform and pitch a few games for the Bears during the coming season.

As it is, he has been unable even to fulfill his duties as manager of the club.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Madison Square Garden, where sports are booked according to the social register, opens its bronze, torquise studded doors to wrestling tonight.

Leaving out jai alai, roque and deck quoits, every sport to which admission reasonably could be charged has been tried out on the patient, credulous cash customers by G. L. Rickard.

Wrestling, for a long time, remained beyond the pale. It dragged its malodorous weariness through draughty armories, but the "600 millionaires" knew it not.

Then someone out in Kansas City established a new record for gate receipts by billing Joe Stecher and Strangler Lewis for the world's championship, and Tex Rickard took notice and his feet off his desk and set out in search for Mr. Jack Curley.

Announcing record gate receipts to Rickard is like picking four-leaf clovers in the bull's own pasture with a pair of red flannel bloomers on. Tex is determined that when bigger gate receipts are taken, he will take them.

Finding Mr. Curley was no very difficult task, for Mr. Curley is neither by size nor nature a shrinking violet.

And so was found, as Briggs would say, the beginning of a beautiful friendship.

Rickard and Curley have been competitors in the sport of promoting sports for many years. Jack is the original wrestling man, and knows all the behemoths by their first names. His office is constantly filled with men-mountain seeking $5.00 for spaghetti or sauerkraut, pending their next matches, if any.

The floors of the office building in which Curley makes his headquarters have to be propped up every so often after the tread of heavyweight wrestlers has sounded across them.

When anything is wanted of, by or for the wrestling business, Mr. Curley sees to it.

So said Tex to Jack:

"I see where somebody won the Kansas City gate receipts record with a couple wrestlers the other night. Do you know any world's champion wrestlers we could get cheap to come and wrestle for us at Madison Square Garden?"

"Tex," replied Jack, "believe it or not, I got just the two wrestlers what you're looking for. Fine, big fellers what you will have to take in through the elephant entrance in the basement, and both logical world's champions each of them."

"Well," said Tex, "tell them I said they ain't to throw each other outta the ring, because we have millionaires using up all our front row seats and they don't like wrestlers in their laps. And if either of them gets thrown out I will have Johnny Broderick throw him right back in, and that won't do any good to a wrestler."

A NECESSARY EXPENSE

THE Little Falls Transcript, in an editorial, pays a tribute to their organization known as the Board of Commerce, and which corresponds to our Chamber of Commerce. It considers such an organization a necessary expense, a business necessity, not something just to be "supported." The article states:

The annual meeting of the Board of Commerce is to be held Monday night, following a 6:30 dinner at the Hotel Buckman. This meeting will be one of the most important ever held, as it will have questions to decide that will reflect on the city's future prosperity.

A Board of Commerce is not an organization which deserves to be "supported" in the sense that one supports a worthy charitable or philanthropic organization. A Board of Commerce is a business necessity, just as essential to the successful operation of business enterprises as is the production or sales department of these businesses.

If a business man does not think he is getting a proper return for the payments he makes for raw materials or labor or sales promotion he does not quit buying raw materials or employing labor or carrying on his sales campaign. He sees to it that he does get the return he thinks he should get, or finds out to his own satisfaction that the return he is getting is not commensurate with the money he is expending. In the latter case he may find it good business policy to increase his expenditures.

Similarly, if a business man does not think his Board of Commerce is giving him and other business men the return the budget provided warrants, it should not even occur to him to cut off his payments to the chamber. He should look into the matter just the same as he would look into one of the departments of his own business, which in fact the Board of Commerce is. It is this because the business men in every community have important problems which directly affect the operations of their individual businesses which can only be solved through organized and intelligent cooperation with other business interests in the community.

The time has come when the financing of the Little Falls Board of Commerce should be considered by business men as a necessary business expense. Your attendance is very necessary Monday.

AFTERMATH OF REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

HERE is an aftermath of the regional basketball tournament, showing people are still talking about Brainerd.

H. B. Gough, superintendent of the Alexandria schools, writes to Henry D. Hoffmann, commercial manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Brainerd, the latter an old friend whom he knew when he was located in Central Minnesota:

"I have a copy of the Brainerd Daily Dispatch giving the facts with reference to the tournament. I note you were very busy on both Friday and Saturday evenings.

"We were very glad to have Brainerd compete in the tournament. The team surely played wonderful basketball. They seemed to be in a slight slump Saturday evening. Our people on the whole seemed to feel that Brainerd should have won. However, it is no disgrace by being defeated by the Appleton team. They were a cool headed team.

"Your players and coach are entitled to the highest praise for the manner in which they played and for the sportsmanship that they exhibited. Mr. Kasch made a definite impression upon me. I think he is one of the finest types that we have ever had bring a team to the tournament here.

"I have been thinking about the tournament for next year. I have written Mr. Smith at Anoka for permission to grant competitor's medals to the players and I expect to take up with Barrett the question of broadcasting the tournament. Barrett is a station located near Alexandria and is on a real low wave length so I am sure that all the schools competing would be able to tune in if they wished to do so. The student body at Alexandria is slightly in excess of one thousand."

URGES PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

ROGER W. BABSON in his weekly interview today discusses the question of public works and its connection with the unemployment situation. In an effort to provide work for the jobless, city, state and federal authorities are being urged to push public improvements. Mr. Babson also summarizes the reports of public works which he has received from various cities.

"It looks as if there will be more public works than tax reduction this year. In an effort to help the unemployment situation, federal, state, and city authorities are being urged to push public works. The fact that you can't spend more public money without increasing public taxes is lost sight of in the emergency. However, it is far better to push public construction at a time when it is really needed, like the present, than to do as we have in the past, namely, build most public improvements when business is booming and labor fully employed. Employing labor and buying materials for public construction now helps to stabilize the situation."

Babson's advice is timely and to the point in those communities where public works or buildings are needed. Brainerd badly needs a new high school, and the Board of Education now has on hand about $300,000 available for this purpose, about two-thirds of the sum needed. Also the building outlook for this year is not very bright. Why should not the Board of Education accept Babson's advice and this year construct the much needed high school and thus provide work for many people in the city that would otherwise be idle?

POOR ROADS EXPENSIVE

ROADS, of the dirt kind, says the Wabasha Herald, and even those graveled are beginning to show the effects of the warm weather, and many of them throughout the country are already impassable.

A little of this kind of medicine will be very good to those people who are opposed to the coming bond issue for the building of permanent roads. The people of the state are losing a million dollars every week of this kind of weather by trying to drive over soft, rutty dirt and gravel roads, through wear and tear on their cars and extra gasoline.

The Herald then argues that a bond issue is the only solution, and that the sooner it comes, the more money will be saved.

If Brainerd ever builds that auditorium we shall be in line for the district championship play in high school basketball. The regional play may be altered so as to make Brainerd regional headquarters in a new region.

THE WORLD'S GREAT EVENTS

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

(© by Dodd, Mead & Company.)

The Huguenots

AN INSANE man, foaming at the mouth and muttering incoherent prayers to the saints, crouched in the embrasure of one of the upper windows of the palace of the Louvre, at Paris, on the night of August 24, 1572. He was gripping a gold-chased musket which he fired at intervals into the throng of panic-stricken men and women who rushed screaming along the dark street below. The madman was King Charles IX of France, son of that Henry II who had told William the Silent of a plan to massacre all the Huguenots in France. A series of strange events had led up to this midnight scene of wholesale murder.

The Protestant creed (started many years before in Germany by Martin Luther) had spread into France. But there it had, to a great extent, lost its religious significance. The French Protestants (or "Huguenots," as they were called) became largely a political party. The so-called religious wars, massacres, etc., in France during the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries had far more political than pious significance.

Henry II had married, for political reasons, an Italian woman, Catherine de Medici, daughter of the magnifico, or lord, of Florence. Henry neglected her, and in his lifetime she was of little consequence. But on his death she came to the front as the most powerful, most dangerous power of her time. Among other Italian customs she introduced into France were assassination by poison. She had four sons—Francis II (who married Mary Queen of Scots), Charles, Henry and Francois. All died childless, and three of them (Francis II, Charles IX and Henry III) were successively kings of France.

The Lorraine family, whose head was the duke of Guise, were all-powerful at court. When Francis II died and Catherine became regent for her young son, Charles IX, she sought to curb the growing influence of Guise by favoring the Huguenots. The leaders of the Huguenot party were Louis, prince of Conde, young Henry, prince of Bearn (afterwards king of Navarre) and still later King Henry IV of France, and Admiral Coligny. Henry was head of the Bourbon family, as Charles IX was of the Valois family. In 1562 civil war broke out between Guise's followers and the Huguenots. Conde was captured and killed. Guise was murdered. His son, who succeeded to the dukedom, declared that Admiral Coligny was his father's assassin and swore blood vengeance on him.

At last the Huguenots grew so powerful that Catherine feared them as much as she had once feared the Guises, and she threw her influence with the latter. Charles IX had meantime come to manhood and was strongly in favor of the Huguenots. He loved Coligny and regarded Henry of Navarre as his own brother. Catherine viewed with alarm this attitude of her son. Then she and Guise concocted a plot that has made both their names odious.

They arranged a marriage between Charles' sister, Margaret, and Henry of Navarre, and invited all the Huguenots in France to come to Paris for the ceremony. The wedding occurred August 18, 1572. While the festivities were in progress Catherine hastened to Charles with the false news that Coligny and other Huguenots were conspiring against his life. Charles was weak, credulous, and, moreover, was subject to fits of temporary insanity. By working on his fears Catherine and Guise persuaded him that the Huguenots, under Coligny's orders, were planning a massacre of Catholics and were especially pledged to murder himself and those dear to him. Insane with fear, he cried:

"Kill Coligny! Kill every Huguenot! Let none be left alive to reproach me!"

Guise had beforehand laid his plans. He was the idol of the populace. Through his agents he instructed the townsfolk and rabble to assemble at midnight on August 24 (St. Bartholomew's day), and at a signal begin a wholesale slaughter of Huguenots. The Huguenots, taken wholly by surprise, died like sheep under their butchers' weapons.

Guise, full of his old-time vengeance against Coligny, hurried to the hotel where the admiral lay ill in bed. The defenseless old man was stabbed a dozen times and his body hurled into the courtyard below.

The wave of massacre spread through all France.

Henry of Navarre, the young bridegroom whose marriage celebration had been the trap to lure so many thousands of his followers to their doom, was captured in the Louvre before he could escape or defend himself. Being less scrupulous—or fonder of life—than his unfortunate co-religionists, Henry promptly renounced Protestantism, declared himself an ardent Catholic, and thus appeased the royal wrath and saved his own skin.

Atrocious and utterly unpardonable as was the massacre of St. Bartholomew, yet it was not without lasting benefit of a sort. For, owing to it and to subsequent religious persecution, fully 50,000 Huguenots left France and a large number of these eventually settled in America, helping to form the social and religious backbone of our present nation.

JAIL LAKE

We don't think anyone enjoyed the snow that we got last Sunday for it did not look very much like spring.

Leon Glover and two nieces, Glorine and Evelyn Glover, were in Pine River Saturday. Glorine and Evelyn took dinner with their aunt, Mrs. Chas. Glover.

Merton Sweet has been absent from school this week on account of sickness.

Laurence Samuelson has not been working for he was attacked by a cold.

The town board meeting at the Clough Lake school last Tuesday was not very well attended because of the deep snow.

Among those going to town this week were Tracy Shepherd, John Heron, John Dauber, and Willie Shepherd.

Albert Smith who is working with Leon Glover visited Friday at Pine River.

Miss Ballentyne visited the week end with her grandma, Mrs. Sutton. Laurence Samuelson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Powers and Miss Ballentyne were shoppers in town Saturday.

"Your players and coach are entitled to the highest praise for the manner in which they played and for the sportsmanship that they exhibited. Mr. Kasch made a definite impression upon me. I think he is one of the finest types that we have ever had bring a team to the tournament here.

"I have been thinking about the tournament for next year. I have written Mr. Smith at Anoka for permission to grant competitor's medals to the players and I expect to take up with Barrett the question of broadcasting the tournament. Barrett is a station located near Alexandria and is on a real low wave length so I am sure that all the schools competing would be able to tune in if they wished to do so. The student body at Alexandria is slightly in excess of one thousand."

URGES PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

ROGER W. BABSON in his weekly interview today discusses the question of public works and its connection with the unemployment situation. In an effort to provide work for the jobless, city, state and federal authorities are being urged to push public improvements. Mr. Babson also summarizes the reports of public works which he has received from various cities.

"It looks as if there will be more public works than tax reduction this year. In an effort to help the unemployment situation, federal, state, and city authorities are being urged to push public works. The fact that you can't spend more public money without increasing public taxes is lost sight of in the emergency. However, it is far better to push public construction at a time when it is really needed, like the present, than to do as we have in the past, namely, build most public improvements when business is booming and labor fully employed. Employing labor and buying materials for public construction now helps to stabilize the situation."

Babson's advice is timely and to the point in those communities where public works or buildings are needed. Brainerd badly needs a new high school, and the Board of Education now has on hand about $300,000 available for this purpose, about two-thirds of the sum needed. Also the building outlook for this year is not very bright. Why should not the Board of Education accept Babson's advice and this year construct the much needed high school and thus provide work for many people in the city that would otherwise be idle?

POOR ROADS EXPENSIVE

ROADS, of the dirt kind, says the Wabasha Herald, and even those graveled are beginning to show the effects of the warm weather, and many of them throughout the country are already impassable.

A little of this kind of medicine will be very good to those people who are opposed to the coming bond issue for the building of permanent roads. The people of the state are losing a million dollars every week of this kind of weather by trying to drive over soft, rutty dirt and gravel roads, through wear and tear on their cars and extra gasoline.

The Herald then argues that a bond issue is the only solution, and that the sooner it comes, the more money will be saved.

If Brainerd ever builds that auditorium we shall be in line for the district championship play in high school basketball. The regional play may be altered so as to make Brainerd regional headquarters in a new region.

THE WORLD'S GREAT EVENTS

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

(© by Dodd, Mead & Company.)

The Huguenots

AN INSANE man, foaming at the mouth and muttering incoherent prayers to the saints, crouched in the embrasure of one of the upper windows of the palace of the Louvre, at Paris, on the night of August 24, 1572. He was gripping a gold-chased musket which he fired at intervals into the throng of panic-stricken men and women who rushed screaming along the dark street below. The madman was King Charles IX of France, son of that Henry II who had told William the Silent of a plan to massacre all the Huguenots in France. A series of strange events had led up to this midnight scene of wholesale murder.

The Protestant creed (started many years before in Germany by Martin Luther) had spread into France. But there it had, to a great extent, lost its religious significance. The French Protestants (or "Huguenots," as they were called) became largely a political party. The so-called religious wars, massacres, etc., in France during the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries had far more political than pious significance.

Henry II had married, for political reasons, an Italian woman, Catherine de Medici, daughter of the magnifico, or lord, of Florence. Henry neglected her, and in his lifetime she was of little consequence. But on his death she came to the front as the most powerful, most dangerous power of her time. Among other Italian customs she introduced into France were assassination by poison. She had four sons—Francis II (who married Mary Queen of Scots), Charles, Henry and Francois. All died childless, and three of them (Francis II, Charles IX and Henry III) were successively kings of France.

The Lorraine family, whose head was the duke of Guise, were all-powerful at court. When Francis II died and Catherine became regent for her young son, Charles IX, she sought to curb the growing influence of Guise by favoring the Huguenots. The leaders of the Huguenot party were Louis, prince of Condé, young Henry, prince of Beaufort (afterwards king of Navarre) and still later King Henry IV of France, and Admiral Coligny. Henry was head of the Bourbon family, as Charles IX was of the Valois family. In 1562 civil war broke out between Guise's followers and the Huguenots. Condé was captured and killed. Guise was murdered. His son, who succeeded to the dukedom, declared that Admiral Coligny was his father's assassin and swore blood vengeance on him.

At last the Huguenots grew so powerful that Catherine feared them as much as she had once feared the Guises, and she threw her influence with the latter. Charles IX had meantime come to manhood and was strongly in favor of the Huguenots. He loved Coligny and regarded Henry of Navarre as his own brother. Catherine viewed with alarm this attitude of her son. Then she and Guise concocted a plot that has made both their names odious.

They arranged a marriage between Charles' sister, Margaret, and Henry of Navarre, and invited all the Huguenots in France to come to Paris for the ceremony. The wedding occurred August 18, 1572. While the festivities were in progress Catherine hastened to Charles with the false news that Coligny and other Huguenots were conspiring against his life. Charles was weak, credulous, and, moreover, was subject to fits of temporary insanity. By working on his fears Catherine and Guise persuaded him that the Huguenots, under Coligny's orders, were planning a massacre of Catholics and were especially pledged to murder himself and those dear to him. Insane with fear, he cried:

"Kill Coligny! Kill every Huguenot! Let none be left alive to reproach me!"

Guise had beforehand laid his plans. He was the idol of the populace. Through his agents he instructed the townsfolk and rabble to assemble at midnight on August 24 (St. Bartholomew's day), and at a signal begin a wholesale slaughter of Huguenots. The Huguenots, taken wholly by surprise, died like sheep under their butchers' weapons.

Guise, full of his old-time vengeance against Coligny, hurried to the hotel where the admiral lay ill in bed. The defenseless old man was stabbed a dozen times and his body hurled into the courtyard below.

The wave of massacre spread through all France.

Henry of Navarre, the young bridegroom whose marriage celebration had been the trap to lure so many thousands of his followers to their doom, was captured in the Louvre before he could escape or defend himself. Being less scrupulous—or fonder of life—than his unfortunate co-religionists, Henry promptly renounced Protestantism, declared himself an ardent Catholic, and thus appeased the royal wrath and saved his own skin.

Atrocious and utterly unpardonable as was the massacre of St. Bartholomew, yet it was not without lasting benefit of a sort. For, owing to it and to subsequent religious persecution, fully 50,000 Huguenots left France and a large number of these eventually settled in America, helping to form the social and religious backbone of our present nation.

JAIL LAKE

We don't think anyone enjoyed the snow that we got last Sunday for it did not look very much like spring.

Leon Glover and two nieces, Glorine and Evelyn Glover were in Pine River Saturday. Glorine and Evelyn took dinner with their aunt, Mrs. Chas. Glover.

Merton Sweet has been absent from school this week on account of sickness.

Laurence Samuelson has not been working for he was attacked by a cold.

The town board meeting at the Clough Lake school last Tuesday was not very well attended because of the deep snow.

Among those going to town this week were Tracy Shepherd, John Heron, John Dauber, and Willie Shepherd.

Albert Smith who is working with Leon Glover visited Friday at Pine River.

Miss Ballentyne visited the week end with her grandma, Mrs. Sutton.

Laurence Samuelson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Powers and Miss Ballentyne were shoppers in town Saturday.

TRAPPERS EAGERLY AWAIT "RAT" SEASON

OPEN FOR 30 DAYS
30,000 Muskrats Estimated in Crow
Wing County
Today

With 30,000 muskrats estimated in existence in Crow Wing county today, hundreds of trappers were eagerly awaiting the opening hour of the muskrat season.

Immediately after 12 o'clock midnight trappers will be given the right to trap as many muskrats as they can within the next 30 days.
The season will close again at midnight of April 18.

D. D. Schrader, of the Game and Fish Department stated today that following a county wide trip with Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie
he was certain that never before have there been as many muskrats in Crow Wing county. He said that on one small lake yesterday he counted over 500 muskrat houses which alone represented possibly a figure of over 3,000 "rats," and quoted the 30,000 figure as a conservative estimate on the number of muskrats in the county at the present time.

A rush for trapping licenses which gives the owner permission to trap the muskrat was in evidence yesterday and today at the county auditor's office. Henry A. Krause, deputy auditor, estimated this morning that over 250 licenses had been taken out within the past two days. The office was crowded with trappers the major part of today which means a large increase in the number of licenses issued. It is expected that the figure will mount a couple hundred by office closing hours today.

The trappers licenses cost one dollar each. Muskrat hides will run in price from one dollar to two dollars depending on the condition of the hides.

While the majority of the trappers have played square with the state, game wardens have been kept busy checking up on those who sought to make a cleanup on the animals before the season opened.

Thousands are expected to engage in "rat" trapping in the county in the next thirty days. Many have set aside regular duties in order to get in on the prospective "wealthy" trapping during the short season.

The large number of animals in the county this season is made possible through the closing of season for the past three years.

Reinforced squads of game officials were covering the territory throughout the district today to prevent any pre-season trapping.

on various phases of the Pioneers

Cottingham explained the use

Stanley Deacon, tenor, with Delphie Lindstrom at the piano, gave the Brainerd Musical club a most enjoyable program Sunday afternoon in the Elk's hall. Mr. Deacon was in unusually high spirits and made all the characters in his songs vivid personalities. As was expected from his appearance last year, he charmed as much by his personality as by his voice. One had only to watch his face to realize how much an artist of his type would be handicapped in sending his impersonal voice over in a radio program. Miss Lindstrom, as always, presented a charming appearance and gave Mr. Deacon excellent and adequate support in some very pretty and delicate accompaniments as well as in the more somber and heavy ones.

The aria from the Barber of Seville, which Mr. Deacon gave in his last appearance here, gave them an excellent opportunity to demonstrate his voice, his control and his dramatic ability. It was well sung and well acted.

The group of modern European songs demonstrated in both words and music the somber tone one expects whenever the Russians are mentioned. The group contrasted well with the airy speed of the Barber of Seville. An encore, Thanks be to God, by Deebson, carried out the same motif.

The last group was an American group, interesting both for content and variety. It included the Unknown Soldier, Michi avo, or What does it Matter?, Sittin' Thinkin', Roustabout by Rupert Hughes, and Boots, by Kipling. In the Roustabout and Boots, Mr. Deacon gave free reign to his mastery of the dramatic and presented the weary dock laborer, and the English soldier in South Africa, almost insane from the monotony of marching by day and by night.

He ended with three encores, the rather pathetic Little Bateese, and two negro spirituals, Noah and Liza Jane, in all of which he caught the spirit of the songs and the races that produced them. In all three he showed in every detail his complete mastery of the dramatic possibilities to be obtained from pathos or a chuckle — almost imperceptible but telling in effect.

In all, every phase of the program was altogether delightful.

Vehicles of a gross weight of over two tons will be prohibited starting March 22 until further notice from travelling on three trunk highways in this district, according to A. W.
Moulster, maintenance superintendent who announced that the state highway department was taking this means to prevent severe damage to the roads during the spring breakup.

The traffic restriction will be in effect on the following highways:
Trunk highway No. 2, between Brainerd and McGregor.

Trunk highway No. 18, between Brainerd and Onamia.

Trunk highway No. 35, between Garrison and Grand Rapids.

Mr. Moulster requests that motorists keep to the paved and tarvia roads as much as possible during the spring season thus aiding in keeping down the expense in putting the roads into shape for the summer traffic.

County Highway Engineer Walter
M. Murphy also requests that motorists cooperate with the county highway department in the protection of the roads as much as possible this spring.

Topic in Morning "Victorious Christian Life"; Evening "Down at

On the first day of his Christian Life Mission at the First Baptist church, Rev. Edgar Valiant of Minneapolis, touched upon several of the major themes of the Christian life. Speaking in the morning on the "Victorious Christian Life" he stressed the need of Christian people entering into a deeper experience with God. He stated that there should be first of all the crossing of the Red Sea out of Egypt. This is symbolic of the snapping of the fetters of the life of sin. Egypt implies bondage, and those who are without Christ are bondslaves to sin.
After the Red Sea, there should come the crossing of the Jordan.
This does not refer to death as is usually supposed, but passing out of the wilderness experience of an unsatisfactory life, into the fullness of God's blessing to man. This is possible to all, and will lead to heights of fellowship and communion such as was never thought possible. Then there is the crossing of the narrow sea which means death. Through this we enter into the climax of all

Urge Cooperation of Judgment in Road Travel During Spring Breakup

Vehicles of a gross weight of over two tons will be prohibited starting March 22 until further notice from travelling on three trunk highways in this district, according to A. W. Moulster, maintenance superintendent who announced that the state highway department was taking this means to prevent severe damage to the roads during the spring breakup.

The traffic restriction will be in effect on the following highways:

Trunk highway No. 2, between Brainerd and McGregor.

Trunk highway No. 18, between Brainerd and Onamia.

Trunk highway No. 35, between Garrison and Grand Rapids.

Mr. Moulster requests that motorists keep to the paved and tarria roads as much as possible during the spring season thus aiding in keeping down the expense in putting the roads into shape for the summer traffic.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy also requests that motorists cooperate with the county highway department in the protection of the roads as much as possible this spring.

CHRISTIAN LIFE MISSION OPENS

First Day of Rev. Edgar Valiant's Work at First Baptist Church

THEMES OF CHRISTIAN LIFE

Topic in Morning "Victorious Christian Life"; Evening "Down at the Mouth Preacher"

On the first day of his Christian Life Mission at the First Baptist church, Rev. Edgar Valiant of Minneapolis, touched upon several of the major themes of the Christian life. Speaking in the morning on the "Victorious Christian Life" he stressed the need of Christian people entering into a deeper experience with God. He stated that there should be first of all the crossing of the Red Sea out of Egypt. This is symbolic of the snapping of the fetters of the life of sin. Egypt implies bondage, and those who are without Christ are bondslaves to sin. After the Red Sea, there should come the crossing of the Jordan. This does not refer to death as is usually supposed, but passing out of the wilderness experience of an unsatisfactory life, into the fullness of God's blessing to man. This is possible to all, and will lead to heights of fellowship and communion such as was never thought possible. Then there is the crossing of the narrow sea which means death. Through this we enter into the climax of all

Every Room is a
Livable Room, Now

How different it is today than in grandmother's, or even in mother's, time!

In that earlier day the family usually congregated in one room, the one comfortably heated room in the house—the "living" room.

Today every room is lived in, day and night. Consequently, the fuel of today must give the full-bodied heat and also have the long-burning quality to keep the entire house always livable.

Dock Coal has that quality because it is so exceptionally free from moisture and waste and has such a high percentage of heat producing carbon. Besides, it is carefully cleaned, sized and graded to assure you convenient and economical heating.

Dock Coal for household uses is sold only by established and reputable retail fuel dealers. Ask your dealer today. He will be glad to help you select the fuel best suited to your particular heating requirements.

SMUDGE OF OIL SMEARED ACROSS HISTORY

SENATOR CAPPER CALLS UPON REPUBLICAN PARTY TO TAKE ACTION

"TO REPUDIATE MEN PARTICIPATING IN RAPE OF GOVERNMENT OIL LANDS"

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—The republican party must make plain by forceful action that "it indignantly repudiates the men who participated in the rape of the government oil lands," Senator Arthur Capper, republican, Kansas, said today.

"The smudge of oil being smeared blackly across the pages of history is repulsive to the citizens of the entire country," Capper said. "The trail is slimy, odorous, reeking with corruption."

The Kansas senator suggested laws "with teeth in them" to limit campaign expenditures, and to require that the real source of every contribution be a matter of public record.

"The republican party must purge itself from the oil smudge," Capper said in his statement.

"Republican leaders must realize that they must face the music or the party will pay the fiddler. The issue cannot be evaded."

"The leaders may condone."

"The public will not forget."

Capper did not mention Senator Borah's campaign to raise $160,000 to repay the contribution of Harry F. Sinclair, indicted oil magnate who leased Teapot Dome, and who later gave Will Hays liberty bonds to help pay the republican 1920 campaign deficit.

Capper said the Teapot Dome conspiracy was "more medieval than modern."

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain; for intrigue and plot; for impudent daring; for melodramatic episodes; for duplicity, craft and cunning—the conspiracy of Teapot Dome is the equal of any of the major crimes by unscrupulous and infamous freebooters in the middle ages," the senator said.

Spectacular Career of the Flying Colonel More Thrilling, More Dramatic Than Any Story That Could Ever Be Written

40,000 miles with Lindbergh in a new film which might be called a historical document, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company reviews the spectacular aeronautical career of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh now showing at the Lyceum. Beginning with his preparations for the New York-Paris Non-Stop Flight and ending with his return to St. Louis after a successful termination of the good-will tour through the Central American republics and the Caribbean Islands, every detail of Lindy's flights is shown in this film, and explained by means of graphic maps and charts.

PILOT AND 2 PASSENGERS ARE KILLED

Wilmington, Cal., March 19.—(UP)—A pilot and his two passengers were killed and a small girl was injured when an airplane crashed in a lot where several children were playing here yesterday.

Jack Martin, pilot, and William Hulbert and Leonard English, passengers, were killed, and Jacinto Zamudio, 14, was made unconscious when she was struck by a piece of the wreckage of the plane. Physicians said the girl would recover.

The plane was flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet when it swerved suddenly and went into a tail spin. The propeller was believed to have splintered, pieces of it damaging the wing and throwing the plane into a tailspin.

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE OLDS MAY RESIGN SOON

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—Under-secretary of State Olde is contemplating resigning within the coming year, Secretary Kellogg announced today, "but the date has not been fixed and it will not be immediately."

It was indicated that Assistant Secretary William R. Castle, Jr., now in charge of European affairs, would be appointed to the under-secretaryship. Kellogg said Olde had stayed in the department "at a very great sacrifice."

AMERICAN FLEET TO VISIT JAPAN

Manila, March 19.—(UP)—Admiral M. L. Bristol sailed today aboard his flagship with destroyer units on a goodwill visit to Kobe, Nagasaki and probably Yokohama.

The destroyers later will go to China. The visit will be the first trip of a United States warship to Japan since the earthquake of 1923.

TEAPOT DOME BODY PROBES MOST STARTLING STORY

there was actually a package such as the mystery witness described, and, in case it existed, whether it was intended for a judge or other person in Washington, D. C.

Should the existence of the package be established, the committee will desire to know its contents and whether any illegitimate purpose was involved in its sending. Observers here suggested that if anything illegitimate were involved in the situation, it might take two turns, namely,

1. Sending of the package presumably to influence the recipient.

2. Or purposely sending the package to a wrong address with a view to casting suspicion on an innocent party.

Sensors Nye and Norbeck, back from Chicago, intend to give details of the new development to their colleagues in executive session today. Meantime, special investigators have been put to work to check on the accuracy of the story given Nye and Norbeck.

Justice F. L. Siddons, who sentenced Harry Sinclair, W. J. Burns, Sherman Burns and H. Mason Day, recently for contempt of court, said today he had seen published reports that the committee in Chicago called a man named F. L. Siddons, Chicago, who did not appear. He was also advised that newspapers were quoted as saying that the package, allegedly containing bonds, was intended for "F. L. Siddons, Washington, D. C."

Thereupon he told the United Press he could not make a too-sweeping denial of having received any package, or knowing of such a package, or anyone's intention to send him any package.

"Of course, I do not know what the committee actually was told, and I feel that the court might have been spared," he said. "I know absolutely nothing of the matter. I cannot make too sweeping a denial that any package or any communication directed from such a source—any oil company or anyone else—has come to me. I have not the slightest knowledge of any package. As far as I am concerned, the story is made of whole cloth, and there is not the slightest vestige of truth or basis for it."

Asked if he cared to comment on suggestions that the situation might be a "frameup," the justice replied he could not speculate on the matter, since he was not aware of what the committee actually was told.

WIDE SEARCH FOR 15 YEAR OLD SCHOOL BOY

Minneapolis, March 19.—(UP)—A search extending from the Twin Cities to the Pacific coast was under way today for Robert Landis, 15-year-old school boy and cousin of Keneaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, who was last heard from at Miles City, Mont.

A card mailed at Miles City was received by a friend here while 600 boy scouts searched the countryside for the boy who has been missing from home since Tuesday, when he went hunting.

The card said: "I am O. K. Will write later."

Parents of the boy declared today that he did not intend to leave home. He left his money in his room, and left on the day he intended to have a party in the evening.

DAIRY FACTS

COWS NEED WARM DRINK IN WINTER

Successful winter dairying calls for an adequate supply of water at a temperature that will not paralyze the entire digestive tract of the cow when she drinks.

"Water is equally as important as feed," says Dr. C. H. Eckles, chief of the dairy division of the University of Minnesota. "A cow milking 30 pounds daily drinks close to 100 pounds of water every 24 hours. Sometimes watering the cows means turning them out of the barn once a day to drink what they can stand of ice-cold water. Can we imagine a cow which weighs around 1,100 pounds drinking 100 pounds, or nearly one-tenth of her weight, of ice water at once? Of course she will not do it and consequently will not give her owner 30 pounds of milk even though she has the ability to produce this much and has feed enough as well."

"The milk flow may be cut down quicker by a lack of water, or by the use of ice water, than by poor feed. Individual drinking cups in my judgment pay more dividends to the user than almost anything else in the line of modern barn equipment. Even if the water is not warmed in the cups the cow will take such small amounts at a time, so long as it is above freezing, that no harm results from drinking it cold."

"If cows must be watered from a tank outdoors and under conditions which mean ice water, it will pay to install a water heater of some kind."

Cows With Records Are Decreasing in Number

Pure bred dairy cows of good type and with high official records are actually getting hard to find.

The shortage, according to Roy T. Harris, supervisor of Wisconsin dairy tests, is caused by the fact that since 1920 there has been a marked decrease in official testing. Up to that time there was an abundance of tested animals, but as the demand for pure breeds slackened with the change in economic conditions many breeders discontinued advanced registry testing.

"The oversupply of animals with records is no longer evident," declared Harris, "in fact, there is an actual shortage of animals combining desirable form with even good advanced registry backing. This situation indicates that the most opportune time to start or renew testing is right this year."

Winter months are particularly favorable for starting cows on test, especially to make semi-official records. Cows freshening in the fall produce as much as 15 to 20 per cent more milk and butterfat than those calving in the summer. Another advantage of starting the test in the fall or winter is that on many farms plenty of help is generally available to care for the cows when production is highest. In short time testing, ranging from seven to thirty days, the best records are usually made in the winter.

Providing Ice Storage for Use in the Summer

As an aid to farmers in providing ice storage, the division of agricultural engineering, department of agriculture, University of Minnesota, has prepared blue prints of a plan for a farm ice house holding 16 tons. The blue print shows just how the ice house should be built, and is distributed through the division of publications, University Farm, St. Paul, at the nominal charge of 10 cents to cover costs. With creameries paying premium prices for sweet cream, more and more farmers are becoming interested in providing ice for use in the summer in order that the cream may be kept cool until it can be marketed.

Efficient Ration for Bull Calf Is Outlined

A good bull calf ration is ten pounds of clover or alfalfa hay, together with a grain mixture of six parts of corn, four parts of oats and one part of linseed meal. The grain mixture should be fed according to the appetite of the calf, the object being to bring about a gain of about two pounds daily or a little better. To start with, five or six pounds of grain daily will be enough for the calf, but it soon can be increased to ten or twelve pounds. In some cases it pays to substitute bran for part of the oats and to increase the linseed meal in the ration to two pounds daily.

Feed for Cows

Use home-grown feeds as far as possible. Alfalfa or other legume hay is best. For most economical production, provide silage. Feed one pound of hay and three pounds of silage for each 100 pounds weight of animal. If silage is not available, feed two pounds of hay for each 100 pounds weight. Use a good grain mixture containing a small amount of cottonseed meal or linseed meal. Feed one pound of grain mixture for each three pounds of hay or silage.

Big Change in Face Powder

"TO REPUDIATE MEN PARTICIPATING IN RAPE OF GOVERNMENT OIL LANDS"

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—The republican party must make plain by forceful action that "it indignantly repudiates the men who participated in the rape of the government oil lands," Senator Arthur Capper, republican, Kansas, said today.

"The smudge of oil being smeared blackly across the pages of history is repulsive to the citizens of the entire country," Capper said. "The trail is slimy, odorous, reeking with corruption."

The Kansas senator suggested laws "with teeth in them" to limit campaign expenditures, and to require that the real source of every contribution be a matter of public record.

"The republican party must purge itself from the oil smudge," Capper said in his statement.

"Republican leaders must realize that they must face the music or the party will pay the fiddler. The issue cannot be evaded."

"The leaders may condone."

"The public will not forget."

Capper did not mention Senator Borah's campaign to raise $160,000 to repay the contribution of Harry F. Sinclair, indicted oil magnate who leased Teapot Dome, and who later gave Will Hays liberty bonds to help pay the republican 1920 campaign deficit.

Capper said the Teapot Dome conspiracy was "more medieval than modern."

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain; for intrigue and plot; for impudent daring; for melodramatic episodes; for duplicity, craft and cunning—the conspiracy of Teapot Dome is the equal of any of the major crimes by unscrupulous and infamous freebooters in the middle ages," the senator said.

Spectacular Career of the Flying Colonel More Thrilling, More Dramatic Than Any Story That Could Ever Be Written

40,000 miles with Lindbergh in a new film which might be called a historical document, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company reviews the spectacular aeronautical career of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh now showing at the Lyceum. Beginning with his preparations for the New York-Paris Non-Stop Flight and ending with his return to St. Louis after a successful termination of the good-will tour through the Central American republics and the Caribbean islands, every detail of Lindy's flights is shown in this film, and explained by means of graphic maps and charts.

PILOT AND 2 PASSENGERS ARE KILLED

Wilmington, Cal., March 19.—(UP)—A pilot and his two passengers were killed and a small girl was injured when an airplane crashed in a lot where several children were playing here yesterday.

Jack Martin, pilot, and William Hulbert and Leonard English, passengers, were killed, and Jacinto Zamudio, 14, was made unconscious when she was struck by a piece of the wreckage of the plane. Physicians said the girl would recover.

The plane was flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet when it swerved suddenly and went into a tail spin. The propeller was believed to have splintered, pieces of it damaging the wing and throwing the plane into a tailspin.

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE OLDS MAY RESIGN SOON

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—Under-secretary of State Olde is contemplating resigning within the coming year, Secretary Kellogg announced today, "but the date has not been fixed and it will not be immediately."

It was indicated that Assistant Secretary William R. Castle, Jr., now in charge of European affairs, would be appointed to the under-secretaryship. Kellogg said Olde had stayed in the department "at a very great sacrifice."

AMERICAN FLEET TO VISIT JAPAN

The destroyers later will go to China. The visit will be the first trip of a United States warship to Japan since the earthquake of 1923.

There was actually a package such as the mystery witness described, and, in case it existed, whether it was intended for a judge or other person in Washington, D. C.

Should the existence of the package be established, the committee will desire to know its contents and whether any illegitimate purpose was involved in its sending. Observers here suggested that if anything illegitimate were involved in the situation, it might take two turns, namely:

1. Sending of the package presumably to influence the recipient.

2. Or purposely sending the package to a wrong address with a view to casting suspicion on an innocent party.

Senators Nye and Norbeck, back from Chicago, intend to give details of the new development to their colleagues in executive session today. Meantime, special investigators have been put to work to check on the accuracy of the story given Nye and Norbeck.

Justice F. L. Siddons, who sentenced Harry Sinclair, W. J. Burns, Sherman Burns and H. Mason Day, recently for contempt of court, said today he had seen published reports that the committee in Chicago called a man named F. L. Siddons, Chicago, who did not appear. He was also advised that newspapers were quoted as saying that the package, allegedly containing bonds, was intended for "F. L. Siddons, Washington, D. C." Thereupon he told the United Press he could not make a too-sweeping denial of having received any package, or knowing of such a package, or anyone's intention to send him any package.

"Of course, I do not know what the committee actually was told, and I feel that the court might have been spared," he said. "I know absolutely nothing of the matter. I cannot make too sweeping a denial that any package or any communication directed from such a source—any oil company or anyone else—has come to me. I have not the slightest knowledge of any package. As far as I am concerned, the story is made of whole cloth, and there is not the slightest vestige of truth or basis for it."

Asked if he cared to comment on suggestions that the situation might be a "frameup," the justice replied he could not speculate on the matter, since he was not aware of what the committee actually was told.

WIDE SEARCH FOR 15 YEAR OLD SCHOOL BOY

Minneapolis, March 19.—(UP)—A search extending from the Twin Cities to the Pacific coast was under way today for Robert Landis, 15-year-old school boy and cousin of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, who was last heard from at Miles City, Mont.

A card mailed at Miles City was received by a friend here while 600 boy scouts searched the countryside for the boy who has been missing from home since Tuesday, when the went hunting.

The card said: "I am O. K. Will write later."

Parents of the boy declared today that he did not intend to leave home. He left his money in his room, and left on the day he intended to have a party in the evening.

COWS NEED WARM DRINK IN WINTER

Successful winter dairying calls for an adequate supply of water at a temperature that will not paralyze the entire digestive tract of the cow when she drinks.

"Water is equally as important as feed," says Dr. C. H. Eckles, chief of the dairy division of the University of Minnesota. "A cow milking 30 pounds daily drinks close to 100 pounds of water every 24 hours. Sometimes watering the cows means turning them out of the barn once a day to drink what they can stand of ice-cold water. Can we imagine a cow which weighs around 1,100 pounds drinking 100 pounds, or nearly one-tenth of her weight, of ice water at once? Of course she will not do it and consequently will not give her owner 30 pounds of milk even though she has the ability to produce this much and has feed enough as well."

"The milk flow may be cut down quicker by a lack of water, or by the use of ice water, than by poor feed. Individual drinking cups in my judgment pay more dividends to the user than almost anything else in the line of modern barn equipment. Even if the water is not warmed in the cups the cow will take such small amounts at a time, so long as it is above freezing, that no harm results from drinking it cold."

"If cows must be watered from a tank outdoors and under conditions which mean ice water, it will pay to install a water heater of some kind."

Cows With Records Are Decreasing in Number

Pure bred dairy cows of good type and with high official records are actually getting hard to find.

The shortage, according to Roy T. Harris, supervisor of Wisconsin dairy tests, is caused by the fact that since 1920 there has been a marked decrease in official testing. Up to that time there was an abundance of tested animals, but as the demand for pure bred stock slackened with the change in economic conditions many breeders discontinued advanced registry testing.

"The oversupply of animals with records is no longer evident," declared Harris. "In fact, there is an actual shortage of animals combining desirable form with even good advanced registry backing. This situation indicates that the most opportune time to start or renew testing is right this year."

Winter months are particularly favorable for starting cows on test, especially to make semi-official records. Cows freshening in the fall produce as much as 15 to 20 per cent more milk and butterfat than those calving in the summer. Another advantage of starting the test in the fall or winter is that on many farms plenty of help is generally available to care for the cows when production is highest. In short time testing, ranging from seven to thirty days, the best records are usually made in the winter.

Providing Ice Storage for Use in the Summer

As an aid to farmers in providing ice storage, the division of agricultural engineering, department of agriculture, University of Minnesota, has prepared blue prints of a plan for a farm ice house holding 16 tons. The blue print shows just how the ice house should be built, and is distributed through the division of publications, University Farm, St. Paul, at the nominal charge of 10 cents to cover costs. With creameries paying premium prices for sweet cream, more and more farmers are becoming interested in providing ice for use in the summer in order that the cream may be kept cool until it can be marketed.

Efficient Ration for Bull Calf Is Outlined

A good bull calf ration is ten pounds of clover or alfalfa hay, together with a grain mixture of six parts of corn, four parts of oats and one part of linseed meal. The grain mixture should be fed according to the appetite of the calf, the object being to bring about a gain of about two pounds daily or a little better. To start with, five or six pounds of grain daily will be enough for the calf, but it soon can be increased to ten or twelve pounds. In some cases it pays to substitute bran for part of the oats and to increase the linseed meal in the ration to two pounds daily.

Feed for Cows

Use home-grown feeds as far as possible. Alfalfa or other legume hay is best. For most economical production, provide silage. Feed one pound of hay and three pounds of silage for each 100 pounds weight of animal. If silage is not available, feed two pounds of hay for each 100 pounds weight. Use a good grain mixture containing a small amount of cottonseed meal or linseed meal. Feed one pound of grain mixture for each three pounds or pounds of milk produced.
